VISION

To develop the Department into a full-fledged centre of learning in the area of Computer Science & Engineering through continuous improvement in teaching and learning process.

To foster conscience, proficiency and competency among the students in pursuit of excellence in the field of Computer Science & Engineering.

MISSION

A hackathon (also known as a hack day, hack fest or code fest) is a design sprint-like event in which computer programmers and others involved in software development, including graphic designers, interface designers, project managers, and others, often including domain experts, collaborate intensively on software projects

PROGRAMME EDUCATIONAL OBJECTIVES (PEO's):

PEO – 1: Preparation:

1. Hackathons are events put together to bring the coding community together.
2. “Hackers” get together and pitch ideas. People then split up into teams and work on turning the ideas into apps.

PEO – 2: Design Skills:

1. To endow the students with a concrete foundation of basic and applied aspects of Computer Science and Engineering.
2. To train the students in different aspects where they can meet all challenges in certain specific domains like programming, networking and operating system.

PEO – 3: Professionalism:

To inculcate the students to realize and learn the ethical values, social responsibility and teamwork skills.

PEO – 4: Communication Skills & Lifelong Learning

Attending a hackathon is a good way to grow your professional network and show off your talents to prospective employers. A hackathon is, quite literally, a party full of people who share a passion for technology.

PROGRAMME OUTCOMES (PO's):

1. The only way you can be consistently innovative is when the pace at which you are generating creative ideas and testing prototypes is higher than the pace at which your external factors are changing.
2. More experiments allow you to test out a large set of hypotheses and conducting not-so-perfect experiments also means that the cost of failure is low while giving you many insights
3. Hackathons help to quickly check the feasibility of some of the ideas that can be taken up in the immediate roadmap.
4. Even though all ideas generated at a hackathon don't get implemented, they can become a good reference list for future road-map discussions.
5. This can facilitate collaboration between different teams but also give engineering teams a better perspective on the customer and make the non-engineering teams more vested in the product.
6. Help assess the company's existing employee pool based on the presentation skills, team collaboration ability, etc
7. Drive engagement by focusing on self-directed and dynamic learning
8. Develop a diverse and flexible work environment by encouraging empowered teams
9. Promote transparency in the management by facilitating talent mobility and ensuring a culture of recognition
10. Identify people with the right skills and attitudes

PROGRAMME SPECIFIC OBJECTIVES (PSO's):

PO 1: The goal of a hackathon is to create usable software or hardware with the goal of creating a functioning product by the end of the event.

PO 2: Hackathons tend to have a specific focus, which can include the programming language used, the operating system, an application, an API, or the subject and the demographic group of the programmers.

PO 3: They will be able to learn working with different types of people in different situations irrespective of working hours

PO 4: A number of hackathons around the world have been planned in memory of computer programmer and internet activist Aaron Swartz, who died in 2013.

PO 5: Some companies hold internal hackathons to promote new product innovation by the engineering staff.

PO 6: The graduates are expected to develop an understanding of different challenges which they might face in their profession in future.
